Hello I'm Amit!!

I'm a web developer. I spend my whole day, practically every day, experimenting with HTML, CSS, and JavaScript, dabbling with Python and Ruby, and inhaling a wide variety of potentially useless information through a few hundred social media feeds. I build websites that delight and inform. I do it well.

I'm curious, and I enjoy work that challenges me to learn something new and stretch in a different direction. I do my best to stay on top of changes in the state of the art so that I can meet challenges with tools well suited to the job at hand. The list of projects on my GitHub will give you a good idea of the types of tools I'd prefer to be using.
